CHAPUIS

ÉLAN ARTISAN DOUBLE RIFLE
5A-Grade walnut

A Premium Line to Make You Stand Out

Chapuis Armes is a family-based French manufacturer of premium-grade rifles and shotguns. It is located near Saint-Etienne in France, a gunmaking area that for centuries has produced some of the most trusted (and copied) firearms in history. It is in fact from the Saint-Etienne arsenal that came the legendary French M. 1777 musket—which helped our young nation win the War of Independence, and which was emulated by the Springfield arsenal to become America's first regulation musket.

Owning a Chapuis premium gun is for the connoisseur. Chapuis produces a finite number of firearms a year while insisting upon absolute beauty and reliability. This is why having a Chapuis firearm makes a statement: if I own a Chapuis, I did my research, I went off the beaten path and I have gained a unique, stunning, and absolutely reliable adventure companion. For life.

But don't take our word for it. When you see a Chapuis, you'll be immediately impressed by the sheer beauty of the firearm. Chapuis wood is—quite literally—second to none, while Chapuis engraving (be it laser- or hand-etched) is a work of art in itself. And talk to many of the most seasoned African dangerous-game professionals, and they will tell you that they trust their life to a Chapuis rifle.

CHASSEUR ARTISAN SIDE-BY-SIDE
5A-Grade walnut

Chapuis premium shotguns and double rifles come with a finely-engraved receiver. Depending on the gun, it features various game scenes framed by superbly-intricate lace-like scrolls. Starting at grade 3, Chapuis wood is hand-selected, meaning that it will outclass in beauty guns costing several times as much.

The Choice of African Professionals

ÉLAN ARTISAN DOUBLE RILE
5A-Grade walnut

ÉLAN CLASSIC DOUBLE RILE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Elan (French for “dashing, spirit”) double rifle is built around the svelte, traditional lines of the firearms carried in the golden age of African safaris. It features either a laser-engraved scalloped boxlock action (Classic grade) or hand-engraved sideplates (Artisan grade), with a classic stock sporting a cheekpiece and a tasteful recoil-soaking rubber pad. The Circassian walnut is hand-selected, as with all Chapuis premium guns.

The barrels are topped by a rib that gives you the traditional graduated V-shaped express sights as well as the option to attach EAW or Recknagel scope mounts with no modification. Chapuis double rifles have earned a rightful reputation as some of the most reliable and durable of their kind, making them a favorite among African professionals.

The Elan double rifles comes standard in three hard-hitting rimmed cartridges for absolutely positive extraction. The versatile .375 H&H Flanged Magnum (same ballistics as the traditional .375 H&H) is perfect for any big game in the world, while the .450-400 NE and the .470 NE have been African favorites for over a century.

Chasseur Side-by-Side

The Most Classic of Classic Choices

CHASSEUR ARTISAN SIDE-BY-SIDE
5A-Grade walnut

CHASSEUR CLASSIC SIDE-BY-SIDE
AAA-Grade walnut

There are no two ways about it. Show up to an upland hunt with a premium side-by-side, and you make a statement even without saying a word. I am traditional. My gun is so much more than a tool. To me, hunting is equally about the ritual, about timeless elegance and taste, as it is about hitting birds. And most importantly, I don't want to be like everyone else.

The Chapuis Chasseur (French for “hunter”) gives you all that and much more. While being built around the most classic lines of a side-by-side, it offers automatic safety, ejectors, plus the modern convenience of interchangeable flush chokes. And with the Circassian Walnut stock for which Chapuis is rightfully famous, we would be extremely surprised if your shotgun wasn't—each time—the most admired gun in the field.

The Chasseur comes in two grades: Classic (laser engraved, grade 3 wood) or Artisan grade (hand-engraved, grade 5 wood). Both feature a vault-like action, solid rib and straight, English-style stock.

Faisan Over/Under

Timeless Durability

FAISAN ARTISAN OVER/UNDER
5A-Grade walnut

The Faisan (French for “pheasant”) is designed to achieve two goals: offering you the perfect and most functional upland over/under while making you stand out for the beauty of the premium-grade wood and the uniqueness and prestige of the brand you carry. The action of the Faisan is built from a single block of forged steel for maximum resistance and durability. And the action’s profile is low, meaning that your supporting hand will be very close to the bore axis for instinctive pointability under most hunting circumstances.

FAISAN CLASSIC OVER/UNDER
AAA-Grade walnut

The Faisan comes standard with a ventilated rib, five flush choke tubes, ejectors and auto safety. The stunning, hand-selected Circassian walnut stock (Classic: grade 3; Artisan: grade 5) features a checkered pistol grip for positive purchase, and a tasteful checkered walnut butt plate.

The Faisan is offered in three gauges: 12, 20 and 28, with a single selective trigger. Engraving is laser (Classic grade) or by hand (Artisan grade) and features upland game scenes bordered by English-style scrolls.
