CHAPUIS

ÉLAN ARTISAN DOUBLE RIFLE
5A-Grade walnut

A Premium Line to Make You Stand Out

Chapuis Armes is a family-based French manufacturer of premium-grade rifles and shotguns. It is located near Saint-Etienne in France, a gunmaking area that for centuries has produced some of the most trusted (and copied) firearms in history. It is in fact from the Saint-Etienne arsenal that came the legendary French M. 1777 musket—which helped our young nation win the War of Independence, and which was emulated by the Springfield arsenal to become America's first regulation musket.

Owning a Chapuis premium gun is for the connoisseur. Chapuis produces a finite number of firearms a year while insisting upon absolute beauty and reliability. This is why having a Chapuis firearm makes a statement: if I own a Chapuis, I did my research, I went off the beaten path and I have gained a unique, stunning, and absolutely reliable adventure companion. For life.

But don't take our word for it. When you see a Chapuis, you'll be immediately impressed by the sheer beauty of the firearm. Chapuis wood is—quite literally—second to none, while Chapuis engraving (be it laser- or hand-etched) is a work of art in itself. And talk to many of the most seasoned African dangerous-game professionals, and they will tell you that they trust their life to a Chapuis rifle.

CHASSEUR ARTISAN SIDE-BY-SIDE
5A-Grade walnut

Chapuis premium shotguns and double rifles come with a finely-engraved receiver. Depending on the gun, it features various game scenes framed by superbly-intricate lace-like scrolls. Starting at grade 3, Chapuis wood is hand-selected, meaning that it will outclass in beauty guns costing several times as much.

Élan Double Rifle

The Choice of African Professionals

ÉLAN ARTISAN DOUBLE RIFLE
5A-Grade walnut

ÉLAN CLASSIC DOUBLE RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Élan (French for “dashing, spirit”) double rifle is built around the svelte, traditional lines of the firearms carried in the golden age of African safaris. It features either a laser-engraved scalloped boxlock action (Classic grade) or hand-engraved sideplates (Artisan grade), with a classic stock sporting a cheekpiece and a tasteful recoil-soaking rubber pad. The Circassian walnut is hand-selected, as with all Chapuis premium guns.

The barrels are topped by a rib that gives you the traditional graduated V-shaped express sights as well as the option to attach EAW or Recknagel scope mounts with no modification. Chapuis double rifles have earned a rightful reputation as some of the most reliable and durable of their kind, making them a favorite among African professionals.

The Élan double rifles comes standard in two hard-hitting rimmed cartridges for absolutely positive extraction. The versatile .450-400 NE and the .470 NE have been African favorites for over a century.

Iphisi Double Rifle

The All-Purpose Double Rifle

IPHISI DOUBLE RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Iphisi is embellished with several exquisite touches. The glossy blue top lever, triggerguard and grip-cap make a fine contrast with the marble-like colorcase finish of the receiver. A discrete but beautiful scroll engraving borders the receiver as well as the barrels, forend latch, grip-cap, tang, and top rib. On the receiver's underside, the model name is enclosed in an engraved Zulu warrior's shield, in conformity with the spirit of this rifle.

Lastly, we have made the Iphisi easy and convenient to scope. The top rib is machined to accept Talley rings. Make sure you select a model that tightens through an Allen key, since the barrels would get in the way of the fins of a quick-detachable model. For best results, please select high or extra-high model rings.

In his immortal work African Rifles and Cartridges, John "Pondoro" Taylor speaks of what he considers the ideal all-purpose rifle for the ambitious hunter: his choice is a scoped .375 H&H double rifle, light enough to be pleasant to carry but still heavy enough to be pleasant to shoot. It is in this spirit that Chapuis has created the Iphisi double rifle, available in the powerful and versatile .375 H&H (.375 Belted Rimless Magnum). If a hunter already possesses a bolt rifle in .375 H&H, the Iphisi takes the same cartridge, offering the additional advantage of ammo compatibility.

The Iphisi (isiZulu for "big-game hunter") is a beautiful, yet no-nonsense double rifle designed to be the ultimate all-around companion for any hunting adventure worldwide. Built around the vault-like, proven Chapuis

AGEX action, it features sleek, classic lines, a handsome colorcase receiver with minimal engraving, a AAA-grade Circassian walnut stock with English-style cheekpiece, and traditional three-leaf express sights. In addition, the Iphisi is machined to accept readily-available Talley rings, so that the user can easily mount his favorite scope. The sleek 26" barrels come regulated for the Hornady 300gr DGX factory load, but thanks to Chapuis' patented regulating mechanism, a competent gunsmith can easily re-regulate it for a hunter's favorite combination.

In sum, the Iphisi was conceived from the ground up to be handsome, durable, reliable, and eminently suited to take any game on Planet Earth under most conditions.

X4 Double Rifle

A Trim, Petite Double Rifle giving Easy Re-regulation

X4 DOUBLE RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Chapuis X4 is built on a Progress 28-gauge scalloped receiver, beautifully engraved. Shown here is one of the many versions they have made, embellished with a European wild boar.

Pick up a Chapuis X4 double rifle and you'll feel like you are holding a little jewel. Built on a sub-gauge shotgun action and sporting lightweight 22" barrels, the X4 is perfect for the hunter looking for a quick-handling, light and trim double rifle. Originally conceived for European-style driven game, this big rifle in a small package is offered in the hard-hitting 9.3x74R and the versatile .30-06 chamberings.

But in spite of its classic lines, scroll engraving, and beautiful grade-3 Circassian walnut with English-style cheekpiece, the X4 ushers in a new patented technology that makes it unique and uniquely-versatile.

As most double-rifle aficionados know, the slightest alteration in load, bullet weight, bullet shape—and sometimes even the addition of a scope—can upset the original regulation of the barrels. Re-regulation is a fairly complex process involving re-soldering and re-bluing the barrels. With the X4, Chapuis has solved this age-old problem by free-floating the right barrel: a guiding ring at the muzzles can be adjusted by a professional gunsmith to make the barrels converge with your new load—with no alteration whatsoever to the rifle.

What this means is that the X4 is always ready for your next hog, whitetail, bear, elk or eland—scoped or unscoped. And it gives you the confidence that your favorite load will always fly true to where you aim.

This is the basis of the X4's technology: the right barrel is discretely free-floated from both the left barrel and the central rib. An adjustable ring holds the barrels together at the muzzles and may be tweaked by a competent gunsmith to re-regulate the point of convergence of the shots.

Chasseur Side-by-Side

The Most Classic of Classic Choices

CHASSEUR ARTISAN SIDE-BY-SIDE
5A-Grade walnut

CHASSEUR CLASSIC SIDE-BY-SIDE
AAA-Grade walnut

There are no two ways about it. Show up to an upland hunt with a premium side-by-side, and you make a statement even without saying a word. I am traditional. My gun is so much more than a tool. To me, hunting is equally about the ritual, about timeless elegance and taste, as it is about hitting birds. And most importantly, I don't want to be like everyone else.

The Chapuis Chasseur (French for "hunter") gives you all that and much more. While being built around the most classic lines of a side-by-side, it offers automatic safety, ejectors, plus the modern convenience of interchangeable flush chokes. And with the Circassian Walnut stock for which Chapuis is rightfully famous, we would be extremely surprised if your shotgun wasn't—each time—the most admired gun in the field.

The Chasseur comes in two grades: Classic (laser engraved, grade 3 wood) or Artisan grade (hand-engraved, grade 5 wood). Both feature a vault-like action, solid rib and straight, English-style stock.

The Chasseur is available in 3 gauges: 12, 20 and 28, with a barrel length of 28 inches. It comes standard with double triggers, auto safety, ejectors and five interchangeable flush choke tubes.

FAISAN CLASSIC OVER/UNDER

AAA-Grade walnut

The Faisan (French for "pheasant") is designed to achieve two goals: offering you the perfect and most functional upland over/under while making you stand out for the beauty of the premium-grade wood and the uniqueness and prestige of the brand you carry. The action of the Faisan is built from a single block of forged steel for maximum resistance and durability. And the action's profile is low, meaning that your supporting hand will be very close to the bore axis for instinctive pointability under most hunting circumstances.

The Faisan comes standard with a ventilated rib, five flush choke tubes, ejectors and auto safety. The stunning, hand-selected Circassian walnut stock (Classic: grade 3; Artisan: grade 5) features a checkered pistol grip for positive purchase, and a tasteful checkered walnut butt plate.

The Faisan is offered in four gauges: 12, 20, 28, and new for 2023, .410 – each with its own receiver size. Engraving is a classic, intricate scroll with game scenes. Single trigger and pistol-grip stock with checkered butt.

ROLS

Tomorrow's Straight-Pull Bolt Action

ROLS CLASSIC BRONZE STRAIGHT-PULL BOLT-ACTION RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut (optic not included, shown with sights removed)

ROLS CARBON STRAIGHT-PULL BOLT-ACTION RIFLE

The ROLS features a smooth-feeding, detachable rotary magazine. The magazine is designed so as to eliminate the possibility of accidental release: to remove it, a button must be pressed to open the trigger floorplate, which then gives access to the magazine. Loading the magazine can be done after performing this operation, or simply from the top when the magazine is inserted in the rifle.

With the straight-pull concept making a resurgence, Chapuis has entered the fray with the superlative ROLS rifle. Developed in the course of four years, the ROLS action was designed to be strong, fast, light and—just as importantly—perfectly safe. When the bolt is driven home, the innovative locking mechanism causes a series of sturdy cantilever “petals” to open front-to-back against a robust recess in the barrel extension: this forms a massive, rearward bearing surface capable of resisting to test-pressures up to 123,000 PSI.

Available in a variety of calibers and configurations, the ROLS sports a quick-detachable rotary magazine, a manual decocker, as well as a mechanism to easily change barrels and calibers if so desired (additional barrels, calibers and configurations available only by special order). In addition, the rifle's receiver comes machined for the world-class Recknagel scope mounting system, available as an accessory.

Lightning fast to operate, absolutely safe, great-looking and unique, the ROLS is for the big-game hunter who values premium quality, quick follow-up shots, superb accuracy, versatility, portability, as well as the chance to stand out from the pack.

ROLS Deluxe

Technology meets perfect aesthetics

ROLS DELUXE STRAIGHT-PULL BOLT-ACTION RIFLE
4A-Grade walnut

Like all ROLS models, the Deluxe offers lightning-quick follow-up shots as well as absolute safety when the rifle is fired. The bolt handle is an attractive sphere made of the same wood as the stock.

The receiver of the ROLS Deluxe is embellished with a tasteful game scene surrounded by classic acanthus leaves, to give you beauty as well as performance.

The ROLS Deluxe offers all the features of the standard models, plus a superior finish. The stock is grade 4 Circassian walnut, which we select from centuries-old, perfectly seasoned samples from our exclusive supplier. The stock is sanded and oil-finished to highlight the rich grain pattern of this premium wood.

The receiver is made of ultralight Fortal 7075 alloy, anodized in grey color and laser-engraved on both sides with game scenes specially drawn by one of our master engravers. The grip-cap opens and gives you access to the multi-purpose takedown tool, which (among other things) may be used to detach the barrel from the action. Many hunters take advantage of this feature to make the rifle less bulky when traveling.
